Product Description

- Customers who bought the Sonictrek Go XL love it enough to protect it. A well designed silicone cover adding grip, colour, and durability is an easy, convincing sell. This is a natural attachment sell at checkout.
- Showing the cover alongside the speaker often prompts a quick addition, especially when highlighting the clear protection benefits.
- Outdoor and active customers think logically about protecting their gear.
- Surfers, campers, and beach goers who have previously damaged equipment need no persuasion to grab a cover.
- The cover is a low cost accessory that looks like a considered premium add on rather than a cheap afterthought.
- This makes pulling the trigger an easy decision. Colour variety drives multiple purchases. Customers looking to distinguish their speaker from a friend's or grab a fresh look will often buy a second cover, adding to quiet repeat business.
