Product Description

- Desk workers live with constant neck and shoulder tension. They are not actively looking for a solution until they see one that is simple and easy to use.
- This is one of the most highly relatable products in any retail environment. Ask almost any customer if they carry neck tension and the answer is yes, making it sell on immediate recognition.
- Office supply stores and corporate buyers love this product. Anyone sourcing gifts for a professional team knows every single colleague can use one, making it a perfect universal present.
- Wellness centers and day spas can use this as an effortless retail upsell. A client who just received a massage is at their peak desire for at-home maintenance on their way out.
- Shoppers frequently make this purchase more than once. They buy one for the office, one for the home, and one for a partner, turning a single satisfied customer into a repeat buyer.

Scale smarter with the right partner.
